In accordance telegram McCloy/Gilpatrick 5 p.m. McCloy immediately called Kuznetsov to advise that, while we had been unable obtain complete report re SOV allegations impropriety in procedures used checking some outgoing missile bearing ships, orders outlining agreed procedures had been reconfirmed include no stopping of SOV ships and no opening of hatches.

McCloy advised Kuznetsov that interpreter available on USNS Perry was not well qualified in Russian and that any misunderstanding re opening ~~opening~~ of hatches probably resulted from poor translation.

McCloy advised Kuznetsov that when complete report of incident was received, it would be provided.

McCloy then pointed out that, since some of Sov ships carried different number of missiles than we had been advised, they should be liberal with us as to what ships we observed. McCloy said that one ship, the Labinsk, was to have carried two missiles and had none and another had one more missile than number furnished us by SOVS. McCloy stated further that we had observed 38 J-42 missiles SOVS had reported.
